

News Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: 5/17/18

2020 Vision Lane | Akron, Ohio 44223
330.926.2222 | appliedvision.com

CONTACT:

Tom Knauer
Artists Incorporated
Akron, Ohio
o: 330.666.5754
c: 330.322.5472
tknauer@artistsinc.net

Applied Vision hosts National Business Award Ceremony

Akron, Ohio – Applied Vision Corporation played host to delegates from The U.S. Conference of Mayors which presented Akron Mayor Daniel Horrigan with its Business Advocate Award. There were over 70 attendees at the ceremony including Jeffrey Bean, managing director at the U.S. Conference of Mayors and eBay’s senior director of government relations, Sharon McBride.

Applied Vision was asked to host the ceremony due to its success becoming a global leader in the field of machine vision inspection for the food and beverage container industry. Currently with over 100 employees, Applied Vision is embarking on its third expansion which will increase its headquarters and manufacturing facility to over 100,000 square feet. “This will enable us to continue to develop new technology and remain at the forefront of the industry”, said Amir Novini, president of Applied Vision.

About Applied Vision Corporation

For nearly 40 years, the Applied Vision team has been the leading force in machine vision technology and has become the global leader in the design and manufacture of inspection systems for the glass and metal food and beverage container industry.

In addition to its headquarters and manufacturing facility in Akron, Ohio, Applied Vision has sales and service offices in Europe, Asia, Latin America, the Middle East and Africa. Visit AppliedVision.com to learn more about its products and services.

###